Doing the anniversary Splash

Three-times British fell champ, pre-race favourite and record holder Colin Donnelly made the biggest Splash in Saturday's 10th anniversary Stanbury fell race.

But he emerged as the slowest winner yet. Perhaps much of the reason was down to the snow and appalling cold. All the more staggering was the high entry for the conditions - 350 hardy souls - though most didn't hang about afterwards and opted for a quick return home and a thaw-out in a warm bath.

Eyri's Donnelly, 33, almost took it as a personal insult that he was more than four minutes slower than his record, set two years ago. But he had more than a minute to spare on Pudsey's Willie Gaunt and Bingley's Paul Mitchell and Tim Lofthouse. 'I didn't think I should have been that slow,' he said.

Bingley's Ian Ferguson blazed a swift trail from the Penistone hill quarry but Donnelly was at the head by Far Intake and had some 30 seconds in hand at the trig-turn. And with his turn of speed he knew he didn't have to kill himself on the return leg.

Ladies' record-holder Carol Greenwood had something to prove in the head-to-head with Sarah Rowell - and the battle was only won in the final 50 yards. Carol, the better climber, turned 10 yards up but it was nip and tuck all the way back with the pair shoulder to shoulder on the quarry track.

A grimly-determined Greenwood really hit the last steep climb out of the quarry bottom and Rowell was beaten, overhauled by four or five men in that last chase.

But what a testament to these two girls to finish 33rd and 37th overall - both inside Carol's old record time and beating some of the leading males including former British champ Andy Styan. What a blow to your pride lads!

Ferguson hung onto his first local crown but only because Tim Lofthouse, who for once beat him hands-down, has moved out of Haworth.

● Carol Greenwood (right) races out of the quarry to take the ladies title.
